

What can I do after my master's?

Penny Longman

29 Sept 2021

LONDON
SCHOOL of HYGIENE
& TROPICAL MEDICINE

We are here to help

Karen Deadfield
– Mondays and Tuesdays

Penny Longman
– Wednesdays
and Fridays

Lucy Hawkins
- Thursdays

And who are you?

Please go to menti.com and put in the code 91 68 66 7
(or link in chat should work)

Also use the chat to introduce yourself.

Timelines to be aware of

Most 'relevant' jobs are 'individual' jobs, recruiting throughout year.

Some PhD programmes have November/December/January deadlines.

There are a few programmes recruiting one cohort per year (see next slides).

Some 'graduate schemes' (limited)

UK

Fast Stream – various strands, Central Government, little experience/some experience, deadline usually late October;

Fast Track - Central Government, Department of Health and Social Care, little experience/some experience, deadline usually November;

NHS Management Trainee Scheme – various strands, usually December deadline, little experience/some experience;

NHS Scientist Training Programme – various strands, usually January deadline, little experience/some experience;

Management Consultancy graduate schemes, earliest deadlines October;

Charities eg Wellcome, (must be recent graduate), Cancer Research;

Pharmaceutical industry graduate schemes – various strands (eg GSK Future Leaders, AstraZeneca Early Talent), little experience/some experience, often variable deadlines (scheme closes when enough applications received).

Also some schemes specifically for those with PhD (eg GSK Esprit R&D Development Programme).

A few examples outside the UK

US:

Fellows programs eg CDC, Gates Foundation, Global Health Corps (usually require experience).

Europe:

ECDC traineeship programme (little experience, Dec deadline),
EPIET/EUPHEM (some experience) (Sept deadlines)

Plus large management consultancy/big pharma companies have opportunities globally.