

Europe: Job Vacancy Websites

This resource is designed for students that are seeking employment opportunities across Europe.

Working In Europe

With a labour market as diverse and as huge as that across Europe, some job vacancy websites focus on specific industries or locations, whilst others cover several different countries across Europe, many of which focus on roles specifically within the EU.

Working in Europe offers a large variety of options, with roles across all sectors. For countries that are part of the European Union, employment across member nations is very common, many websites allow you to search across the entire region.

It is important to remember that each nation may also have its unique approach to recruitment. Researching cultural recruitment norms is crucial in developing your understanding. You can do this usually by undertaking research on the internet. Key things to look out for are the typical length of a CV – will it need a photo? Will you need to write a cover letter? Will you need to complete an application form?

If you do not live in a European Union member state and you wish to work in a country that is part of the EU, please check visa regulations and language requirements for individual countries.

This resource will give you some useful starting points for both general vacancy websites and that those relate to specific industries.
